PIONEER WASHER.
E. G. BOLTER,
AGENT FOR OREGON AND WASHINGTON TERRITORY.
THIS CELEBRATED WASHING MACHINE IS now for the first time introduced to the Oregon public. It is unrivalled for its simplicity, durability and the rapidity and ease of its action Washing the dirtiest clothes perfectly clean in from five to ten minutes, with but slight labor, and lasting, with proper care, for ten years. The wear and tear of clothing in washing by this machine is vastly less than by any other known process of washing It does its work by a reverse motion in forcing the water through the clothes.
It having a tight cover, the steam thus assists materially in cleansing the clothes, and also avoids the inhaling of steam from hot suds
This Machine captured the Special Premium at the California State Fair, and all that have used it pronounce it an invaluable adjunct to old housekeepers and families and wishing men and washing women.
It has been extensively introduced throughout the State of California, and receives the universal commendation of all who have used it.
THE COUNTY RIGHTS, now unsold, will be sold at a bargain if applied for soon.
For Reference, enquire at the Mansion House, and of John Wilson,
Southworth's Boarding House, Mrs S F Johnson
Portland Hotel, Mrs John A Carr,
Pioneer Hotel, Bolter Brothers
California Hotel, John Hulery, and many others.

MONTANA ITEMS.

From the Post of the 21st, of September we take the following items

GREAT SALE.

The most exciting topic which has transpired of late in this vicinity has been the sale of the Whitlatch Union. It was consummated on Tuesday last, Whitlatch disposing of his entire interest in the mine, buildings, etc., to J H. Hubbell, of the North West Fur Company, Gen. Sol, Meredith, Surveyor General of Montana, and Pinney & Trumbull, bankers, of Helena, for the sum of $250,000. This comprises all the ground on the mine except that owned by the Philadelphia Gold Enterprise Co, and the I X L Co, and a few other outside parties. The mine was recorded on the 28th day of February, 1865, since which time work has been constantly done on it, until at the present time it is one of the best developed leads in the Territory, and, under able and efficient management, there is beyond a doubt, sufficient wealth in it to make Rothschilds of all interested in its purchase The sum taken in connection with the known wealth and advanced state of development of the mine is comparatively small, and the sale can only be accounted for on the charitable grounds that the owner wished to withdraw himself from the excitement and turmoil incident to a miner's life, and retire on a handsome competence.

REVOLTING MURDER.

The murder of Mr. J. D. Davidson, at Elk Grove, near the upper ferry on West Gallatin river, on last Friday night, has occasioned an intense feeling in this city, and every exertion will be used to ferret out the perpetrators. Mr Davidson was well known and highly esteemed in this Territory. He was from the vicinity of New Lisbon, Columbiana county, Ohio, and has been in the Territory some two or three years. He was engaged in farming in the Gallatin Valley and had saved about $8,000, with which amount he was about to return to his home, proposing to leave on last Sunday. He was in Virginia in the early part of the week and wanted to exchange his money, which was in 5's, 10's and 20's, for large bills. Mr. Samuel Russell, of this city, introduced him to a gentleman here having U. S. coupon bonds, and Davidson had partially concluded to exchange for them, but the exchange was broken off on account of the accrued interest upon the coupons which he did not seem to understand. He then said he would return and exchange with John Richards at Bozeman, who had large money, and he carried the small bills back to the valley, having them wrapped in a piece of buckskin. There were about $3,000 in the package. The number of murders committed recently is alarming, and call for such punishment to be meted out to the perpetrators as will serve as a warning to those who hold life so lightly, and this atrocious instance would warrant a short shrift and a long rope to the whole gang engaged in it. The reward offered for their arrest is sufficient to warrant the detectives in taking such measures that escape would be an impossibility.

The reported death of the prize fighter Marley is thus described by the Salt Lake Vedette:

Patsey Marley, who has lived in Prescott since last winter, has called upon us to say that notwithstanding the reports of the Montana Post, the Reese River Reveille, the San Francisco Call and the story of one Mark M Romaine, upon which they are based, he did not die in Death Valley in November last, either through exhaustion or by violence, and was not buried there on the 9th of that month by Romaine or any one else, but is alive and kicking, and would be most happy to kick said Romaine for his false and sensational assertions regarding him.

Annexation of Northern Idaho.

We learn that the people of Northern Idaho are active and untiring in their exertions to secure the annexation of that district of country to Washington Territory. With them it is a question altogether outside of politics, and one on which conservatives are thoroughly united. Separated from Southern Idaho by an impassable range of mountains, they can only reach their present Territorial capital by making a circuitous tour, first through Washington Territory and then through Oregon, and at the end of the journey they find a people with whom they have neither interest or sympathy. It was considerations of this character that first led to the agitation of the question of re annexing Northern Idaho to Washington Territory, and it is this lack of identity of interest and sympathy that has given the movement all its coherence and force. The position of our own people in regard to this movement is that of passiveness rather than active participation. The feeling is that if Northern Idaho desires to join us and aid in molding the institutions of a young commonwealth, we shall be pleased to have their assistance and will gladly welcome them to a full participation in all our advantages, present and prospective With the acquisition of Northern Idaho, we shall have a much larger voting population than Oregon boasted at the date of her admission, and on the score of material wealth we shall rank at least as her equal. In substantial resources and the elements necessary to permanent prosperity, we are now, without the acquisition of a single foot of additional territory, greatly in advance of Nevada—a State that for over two years has had her Senators and Representatives in Congress. The people of Northern Idaho, witnessing our steady prosperity, desire to unite their destinies with our own, and in no selfish spirit we bid them welcome. A glance at the map of the country will show that our northern neighbors should never have been severed from us, and that all their interests and channels of communication point to a union with Washington Territory. With a view to furthering the annexation movement, a meeting was held at Lewiston, on Thursday, the 20th ult, at which resolutions were passed declaring it to be the unanimous wish of the people of Northern Idaho to be annexed to Washington Territory. Great enthusiasm prevailed at the meeting, and able and eloquent speeches were made in favor of annexation The official report of the proceedings of the meeting has not as yet come to hand, but we learn that an executive committee was appointed, and arrangements made to keep up the agitation until success crowns the movement. From all that we can learn, the people of Northern Idaho are in earnest about this matter, and will never rest until they have secured the desired change. With the meeting of the Washington Territory Legislature a memorial should be at once adopted asking the consent of Congress to this readjustment of our boundaries. There being no question of party politics involved, we feel quite sure that Congress will readily consent to the proposed change It is possible that a few politicians, of the mole species, will oppose annexation, but these will be as idle wind in the way of a movement that stands approved by the judgment of the people.—Walla Walla Statesman

THE SHOOTING NEAR STELLACOOM.—The Olympia Tribune has the following

On the evening of the 17th, about dark Mr. A. Burge, of Pierce county, was shot by an unknown person, while on his way home, as announced by our telegraph dispatch last week. The ball entered the right shoulder and passed upwards through the left side of the neck, and out at the right side of the face, taking off a piece of the jaw-bone. He went on half a mile to the residence of James McCaw and from there was taken to the hospital at Fort Steilacoom. The chances at last accounts were favorable to his recovery. A Cherokee negro, named James McDonald has been arrested and held to bail in the sum of $1000, charged with the commission of the offence. McDonald formerly lived with Charles Wren, in that county, but more recently has been on Vancouver Island He came up from there the day before the homicide, on the steamer, avowedly in search of ash bark but brought with him a rifle of very large bore. On Friday morning he went out in the country and met Mr. Burge coming to town and talked with him about the difficulty between Wren and himself, afterwards he enquired of another man if Burge was in the habit of going home that way and was told that he was, but that the road forked a short distance ahead and Burge could get home by either fork. Mr. Burge was shot right at the forks. The hospital surgeon testified that the wound was produced by a very large rifle ball. McDonald attempted no explanation of where he was on that night. There were several other corroborating facts testified to but they are too lengthy to be detailed in a newspaper article. Mr. Garfield conducted the examination on the part of the prosecution.

The Circle Completed

As "Democracy" cannot afford to be truthful, so it cannot afford to be intelligent or consistent. It never addresses the reason or cultivated judgment of the people, but appeals solely to ignorance and prejudice, and unfortunately it finds a great abundance of this plastic material. It does not matter that its arguments, so called, are inconsistent, contradictory and absurd, for the class to whom they are addressed, rarely or never thinking for themselves, do not take the trouble to analyze them. "Democracy" has committed a great many follies and fastened itself to a great many absurdities in its day, but the climax of its follies and absurdities is the position it takes in reference to "social equality." Had we not proof of the fact every day, it would be positively incredible that rational beings should maintain that to make a person a voter who has hitherto been denied the ballot, is to make him the social equal of those who move in the highest circles, and to compel them to admit him into their society. This is gravely asserted by the Democratic press as if it were an incontrovertible truth instead of the most ridiculous thing imaginable. Just as if it were not disproved every day by common sense and the lessons of observation. In every election men vote together who are not socially equal. The high-toned, musk-flavored Democrat is jostled at the polls by the degraded recruit from the gutter, and though both put in Democratic ballots, the one would not tolerate the presence of the other elsewhere any sooner than he would a leper or a—"nigger." New oi asses of whites, as minors and foreigners, are continually admitted to the ballot-box; but does this circumstance alter their social standing? A man may be the peer of the highest in the land, and yet not be entitled to vote, and again a being may be entitled to vote whose humanity is scarcely recognized. As a white man is neither better nor worse, neither higher nor lower in a social point of view whether he have the ballot or not, why should it be different in the case of the negro? We have said that it is an insult to common sense to be compelled to combat the absurdity that a man's social standing depends on his having or not having the ballot; but such a humiliating necessity is one of the incidents of being compelled to combat "Democracy."

Let us examine some of the statements made on this subject by one of the organs of that party in Oregon:

> The abolition theory is, that political and social rights are both inherent. That there is no social right enjoyed by white men, of which any man should be deprived on account of race or color. In popular governments, where all are equal before the law, all must be social equals, there can be no political equality without social equality.

First we remark that there is no sense in the statement that social rights are inherent. Social rights depend solely on conventional usage or agreement between parties, and no man has an "inherent right" or any sort of right to force himself into society where he is not wanted. And the man who makes the attempt to do it is extremely apt to meet with such a reception as will deter him from a second experiment of the kind. The "abolition theory" of politics takes no account of social rights or relations. It recognizes the right of every person to choose his own associates, and if a Democrat prefers the society of negroes or Chinese, it does not interfere with his choice. No "abolitionist" is fool enough to suppose that the social rights or standing of any person can be effected by legal enactments. Therefore no "abolitionist" is fool enough to believe in the doctrine stated in the above extract, "that there are no social rights enjoyed by the white man of which any man should be deprived on account of race or color." Such pitiful nonsense is merely the drivel of a Democratic intellect. The statement that "where all are equal before the law all must be social equals," and that "there can be no political equality without social equality," reveals a still lower depth of idiocy. All white people are equal before the law, but who except a Democratic editor would assert that all white people are socially equal.

But let us see further how this writer gets on with his theory. Following the statements quoted above, we find in the very same article this contradictory declaration:

> Social equality cannot be established by law, nor can social equality be prevented by law; we are all too much the creatures of habit and association for that.

Here we see this writer, with a Democratic disregard of consistency,—after having stated that the "abolitionists" were trying to make all men social equals by law, and that their efforts should be constantly resisted,—now declaring that there is no danger of such a result, for laws cannot establish social equality! He here squarely controverts his former position, confesses that his accusations against the "abolitionists" are groundless, and that even if they had the inclination, they are powerless to enact or enforce "negro equality." After having stated in plain words that "there can be no political equality without social equality," he annihilates his his argument by declaring that "social equality cannot be established by law!" Now as we know that political equality can be established by law, and as we are assured by such authority that social equality cannot, it must be left to the Democratic intellect to reconcile these differences and explain how political equality and social equality depend on the same conditions and become inseparable.

Such is "Democracy" as expounded by the Oregon Herald. This disgusting batch of self-contradicting absurdities is put forth as the best argument the party can furnish. Men whose only purpose it is to appeal to prejudice, care nothing for sense, logic or reason. Not established in principles, but subject to that obliquity of understanding which prejudice creates, it is no wonder that they contradict and make themselves ridiculous at every turn. The Herald has about exhausted the "social equality" question. It has completed the circle of contradiction and absurdity, and can well afford to rest from its labors.

John R. Ridge, late editor of the Grass Valley (Cal.) National, was a half-breed Indian,—called, euphemistically, "a native Cherokee." He was a violent Democrat of the State rights, secession school. Beriah Brown knew him and "loved him." We don't know that Ridge was either better or worse on account of his mixed blood, but it is very clear that Brown would "love" a native Boorioboolan, or a man of any color whatever, provided only that he was a Democrat.

The following is a list of the officers elected by the Grand Lodge of Masons for Washington Territory at its late session in Olympia: James Bybee, Grand Master; E. A. Light, Deputy Grand Master; W. S. Jamison, Senior Grand Warden, A. B. Young, Junior Grand Warden; Benjamin Harned, Grand Treasurer, T. M. Reed, Grand Secretary; Rev. P. F. Hyland, Grand Chaplain; Jacob L. Myers, Grand Tyler.

As an indication of the growth of feeling in favor of impeachment, it may be mentioned that the Republican State Conventions of Wisconsin and Massachusetts have both passed strong resolutions urging Congress to immediate action in the matter. Both Conventions, while demanding the impeachment of Johnson, adopted resolutions commending Grant, Stanton and Sheridan.

The majority for Johnson, the Democratic candidate for Congress in the Third California District is only 283. The Democratic majority in the State on Congressmen does not exceed 1,500. What a different story would have been told had the 20,000 stay-at-home voters attended the polls.

[DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.]

OUR SAN FRANCISCO DISPATCH.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 8.—John C. Wade who recently fractured his leg died this morning from tetanus. Mr. Wade had been a member of the San Francisco Bar and was at one time state senator for Mariposa county. The various Courts this morning adjourned in respect to his memory.

Thomas Madigan, convicted of stealing a gold watch, has been sentenced to the Penitentiary.

The House Carpenters' League No. 1 held a meeting to-day. The following resolutions relative to the employment by the Pacific Mail Steamship Company of laborers in New York and other places for work here, were unanimously adopted:

Whereas, A combination of steamship companies, doing business in whole or in part in this State, are engaged in shipping mechanics to this city from the East, under contracts similar to those made with coolies, for the purpose of supplanting resident mechanics and breaking down the eight hour system therefore,

Resolved, That a committee of five be appointed, one of whom shall be the President, for the purpose of conferring with the presiding officers or committee that may be appointed for that purpose by the various eight hour associations in the State, to the best methods for the protecting ourselves up ainst their injustice and ungenerous opposition to the eight hour movement.

Resolved, That the said committee has power in conjunction with the presiding officers or committees from other leagues, to call a meeting of the members of the eight hour associations in this city, if in their opinion it may be necessary.

The matter for the extension of Montgomery street was finally passed last night by a vote of seven ayes to four noes, and now awaits the approval or veto of the Mayor. If the order is finally carried into practical effect, it will extend Montgomery street on a line with Connecticut, across Mission Bay to Islais Creek, one direct thorough fare at least four miles long from Telegraph Hill to South San Francisco.

G. W. Parsons, J. E. Nugary and others have petitioned the Board of Supervisors to grant them the right to manufacture gas in this city and to distribute the same for fifty years. They are the owners of the Exeley economical process, by which the cost of manufacturing is greatly reduced, and they will be able to supply gas to consumers at less than $4 50 per 1,000 feet.

A woman named Fanny Simpson, alias Buck Fanny, has been arrested on a charge of throwing vitrol in the face of Jas Price, last night. Price is a steamboat and boarding house runner, and the woman claims that he married her in New York and absconded three days afterwards with another woman, after getting about $1,000 from her. Price's face is horribly burned, one eye destroyed and the other endangered.

Dennis Carrol was fined $200 for beating a woman named Spoen.

The Western Union Telegraph bark Nightingale arrived to-day from Bligar Bay, Eastern Siberia, with Col Bulkley and his men. The party were all in excellent health. The bark Onward is now also with the balance of the men and the property of the company. All the line which they have constructed has been abandoned, except a section of 800 miles running north from New Westminster and terminating at a point within 250 miles of Sitka, to which point it may ultimately be extended.

Postmaster Perkins is informed that the postal convention recently concluded with Great Britain provides the following important changes, to take effect on the 1st of October, 1867, viz: To countries on the west coast of South America by mail from New York or San Francisco via Panama, 24 cents per single rate of half an ounce or under on letters. Six cents on newspapers and circulars, and ten cents for each four ounces or fraction thereof on book packets, prepayment required.

A CHANGE.—The party known as the "Democratic" has a peculiar adaptability to circumstances. It can curse or coax; treat with ruffian violence or court with all the blandishments of an accomplished gallant. During the last six months it has exhibited all those qualities in its methods of dealing with the negro population. When it found that a very large number of black men had been added to the voting population of the South it instantly took to "courting" the owners of so much power. It at once went to work on Goldsmith's idea of "stooping to conquer." It asseverated roundly that it had never disliked the blacks, but that it had always been their truest, closest friends. As it was a Democratic axiom that however ignorant or drunk a voter might be, the ignorance or intoxication did not reach his ballot, so it was fast becoming an axiom that whatever diversities might exist in the complexions of voters, all ballots were white. It was predicted that the Republicans had enacted a measure that would give their opponents perpetual ascendency, for the faithful blacks, confiding and grateful, would be certain to vote as the loved masters of former years might dictate. And boisterous became the glee of the Democracy when contemplating the situation. The negro was a voter; he would surely be a Democratic voter, and loud and general was the exultation. But so soon as the blacks got a chance to vote and it appeared they had self-respect and patriotism enough to refuse Democratic association, this fine talk was changed to the language of hate, fury and vindictive denunciation. Almost every prominent Democratic journal in the United States had been "courting the negro vote," and now they all instantly reversed their policy and declared that as blacks would not vote with the Democracy they clearly lacked the intelligence necessary to entitle them to the ballot. Where the party was once praising it is now cursing. Its action plainly shows that its opposition to the enfranchisement of the colored men of the South proceeds not from any view or principle of right, but from a knowledge that the blacks will not vote with them.

Another Murder by Indians.

EXPRESS RANCH, Oct. 3, 1867.

EDITOR OREGONIAN:

News reaches here this morning, but too late for to-day's mail, of the shooting of another man by the Indians, between Humbolt Basin and Farewell Bend on Snake river, within three or four miles of the latter place. He was shot twice. One ball passed through the body just above the hips and near the back bone; the other in the thigh, and lodged against the bone.

I could not learn the man's name. It appears that he belonged in Auburn, and was out in search of those thieves that broke jail. He was alive this morning. But little hopes are entertained of his recovery.

There is one thing I wish to call your attention to; that is, that all the depredations that have been committed here this season, have been off the main road, and generally by small squads of Indians. In this last case the man says there were five, which is the largest party I have yet heard of. After the massacre of Mr. Scott and wife, thirty men were out endeavoring to get track of them, but as they had no horses with them it was impossible to follow their tracks. I fear it will not be long till we hear the sad intelligence of the butchery of more white men by the red devils. How long are we to endure this state of affairs? It does seem to me that the military authorities ought to be convinced by this time, that there are Indians in this part of the country as well as on the Chico route to California, and that we are entitled to protection as well as other parts of the country.

If a company of cavalry were stationed on Willow creek, and officered with energetic men, they could soon get this band of murderers who infest this section.

It is not a little significant that those precincts in Tennessee that gave the Brownlow ticket the finest majorities were the same as sent the largest number of men to the Union army in the war. For instance, Jefferson sent about 2,000 men into the Union army, and gives Brownlow about 2,000 majority. Knox sent about 1,500 men into the Union army, and gives Brownlow about 2,000 majority. Green sent 600 men into the Union army, and gives Brownlow 700 majority. In brief, East Tennessee sent about 20,000 men into the Union army, and gives Brownlow about 24,000 majority. Butler's district voted 8,672 majority against separation in 1861, and gives Brownlow a majority of about 10,000. Maynard's district gave 9,017 against separation in 1861, and gives Brownlow about 10,000 majority. The Union sentiment of 1861 and the Republican sentiment of 1867 are identical; the men who fought for the Union voted for Brownlow, Butler, Maynard, Stokes, Trumble, and their associates.

Some of the agricultural papers say that the American method of yoking oxen is wrong, and that the Spanish method is correct. The latter custom is to yoke them to the head, with pads to protect it from external injury, and by these means the animal can make use of the tremendous muscle of their neck and work easier than with the yoke upon their shoulders.

One of the most extensive establishments in the world for the manufacture of watches is now in operation at Elgin, Illinois.

The Liquor Question in Politics.

In an article on the Maine election, the Boston Journal says:

> Although the Democrats of Maine have in many localities increased their vote over that of last year, it would be entirely safe to offer a bounty for any permanent recruit to their ranks that can be shown. And this brings us to the real explanation of the election. In Maine, while the prohibitory system of temperance legislation is the accepted and acknowledged policy of the State, there has always been a section of its advocates who have always striven to engraft upon it extreme, illiberal and we may say, intolerable provisions. When national issues are pressing, those men get no hearing. But at other times their persistency and unity of action gives them success in the Legislature—as happened last winter. Then the mass of the party, who cannot approve of such innovations, are put in this predicament—if they apparently assent in a body, it is taken for unqualified approval of the extremists, and leads to still worse legislation; if they protest, it divides the organization, leading to quarrels and resentments deplorable on every account. The most natural suggestion is to stay away from the polls, while a few, in order to make their protest more effective, vote with the other side. This same experience has been gone over before. The Legislature of 1855, by its unwise temperance legislation, brought on a reaction at the polls that year, which actually resulted in carrying a Democratic Governor and Legislature. The next year the national lines were re drawn, a spirited contest was made, and Hannibal Hamlin was elected Governor by seventeen thousand majority. We shall see a like termination of the present posture of affairs in Maine, although this time she has saved her Gov rnor and Legislature by still handsome though reduced majorities. She is still Republican to the core, and will gloriously make up in the future for the apathy of the present.

The New York Times, speaking of the late elections in California and Maine, very sensibly says:

> The election in Maine, echoing that of California, sounds a voice of warning to the Republican party everywhere to go in to future contests unimpeded by personal unpopularities and needless side issues. From verge to verge of the republic, the voice of the ballot has been ominous, and the geographical, hardly less than the political, position occupied by Maine and California, is significant of what may be expected of the States lying between the two oceans, provided the same elements are suffered to work. In California, the persistent bolstering up of unpopular candidates helped toward the Republican defeat. The race was run with the dead weight of at least one man who ought not to have been carried. In Maine, the handicap was the ale-and-cider law, which pulled down last year's great victory to what was a close contest. Connecticut had already told substantially the same story, and sounded the same warning. If the Republicans wish to lose all the doubtful States, and re decorate their majorities in the sure States, let them continue to be harnessed to the drags of unworthy candidates and of all sorts of small-beer "reforms." For success, the battle must be fought on clean cut, square political issues, involving political principles; otherwise the condition of all opposing elements is pretty sure to defeat the party. Having a sure triumph on the main issues, it is blundering to lose it by starting side issues.

Too LAZY.—A pauper recently died in a New Hampshire pourhouse, the Superintendent of which suggested to an old room mate of deceased that he should dig the grave. This the old fellow stoutly refused to do, saying: "Hang the lazy old critter, he's been loafing about here all the Spring; why didn't he dig the grave then, if he wanted one dug?"

COUGHS AND COLDS ARE OFTEN OVERLOOKED.—A continuance for any length of time causes irritation of the Lungs or some chronic Throat Disease. "Brown's Bronchial Troches" are offered with the fullest confidence in their efficacy, giving almost invariably sure and immediate relief.

OREGON BLANKETS.—Mr White agent for the Oregon City Woolen Mills, has an exhibition and for sale at the store of the Fox Brothers some of the best thick and handsomest white blankets ever made on this coast lately manufactured by Mr J J Wertz Superintendent of the Oregon City Mill They are made of the very finest, full blood Merino wool are almost as soft as silk They are large—80 by 90 inches—and very heavy Mr Wertley who is not heavy on the brag, says he thinks they are quite equal in quality to the famous Mission Mills blankets; Mr White says that upon comparison side by side, with the Mission Blankets, they are manifestly superior, being made of longer and finer wool It would be difficult to imagine anything, more or more comfortable for bedding They are offered at the same price as the Mission blankets—$11 a pair at wholesale—$12 at retail Mr. Wertley is turning out, also a beautiful brown blanket called the Vumain blanket This style, also is sold at the same price as those of the Mission Mills The ordinary gray blankets are offered at 50 cents per yard cheaper than any of California manufacture of the same quality. It is the intention of the Oregon City Company to make all the grades for which there is any demand, of such quality and price as will effectually shut out imports from California It is to be hoped that in this resolve they will be entirely successful

A SINGULAR FISH.—Mr Wm Wetzel has in his saloon the skin of a most singular fish taken at the Sandwich Islands and brought out by the mate of the bark Fi-Luxberg, on her late trip to this port The shape of the fish resembles the Globe fish, the Puffer or Blower and the Swell fish, all of which belong to the family Tetraodon Atopidus It is without bones, except it may be a spine, and the sides say that the inside of the fish is simply a mass of jelly It has a neck projecting much like that of a tortoise and furnished with jaws, or, rather, a bill mouth, like a parrot Each eye is set in the apex of a small rounded protuberance, far back on the top of the head Bad luck, and nearly on the top of the back, are two openings which seem to serve the purpose of gills or lungs Just at each of these openings, is set a small and rather delicate fin The tail, as well as the fins, are small The entire body back of the mouth, is thickly set with stiff bristling hair. The belly is much distended, and when alive, was probably susceptible of being blown up and contracted at will To those who have met with few of the singular beings which inhabit the "great deep," an examination of this specimen would be interesting.

WHAT BECAME OF OUR PEACHES.—The following letter, leaves little room for theorizing as to what became of that box of peaches which we did not get

"WALLA WALLA, Oct 4, 1867

EDITOR OREGONIAN—DEAR SIR We wrote you about ten days ago that we sent you a box of peaches, as a sample of this valley We have not heard whether you received them or not, but we see in the Daily Herald that they received two boxes of peaches from us We sent them but one box, and suppose they got yours through mistake, which we think is the cause of the Herald getting two boxes. The best of the peaches of this valley are gone, or else we should send you another box Yours truly, KOONS & LEIDY

N B. One of the boxes was marked 'Editor OREGONIAN,' and the other 'Editor Herald'"

A NARROW ESCAPE.—On Monday Mr Frank Henry, box-maker, at the factory of Messrs. Carson & Porter, had a narrow escape from serious injury, by being caught in the machinery. He was in the act of throwing the belt from the drum of the main shaft, when his leather apron caught to the shaft and drew him around with it twice The strings broke and thus released him, or he would have been immediately killed, as the shaft revolves rapidly About a year ago Mr George Hamill was caught by the same shaft his sleeve first winding on, then his shirt and other clothing He was stripped of all his clothes, which fortunately for him, were not very strong and tore from him as they wound on the shaft

JUSTICES' COURT.—A man named Hamilton was arrested and taken before Justice Gradon yesterday on a charge of larceny by unlawfully taking a gun, the property of Wm Sykes The charge was preferred by Anna Justus, to whom the gun was at one time pawned for debt and subsequently taken by replevin by another party There are two or three claimants of the property, among the number, Hamilton, who claims to have come in possession of it lawfully. The parties not being ready for trial, the case was continued till 10 o'clock to-day, at which time it will probably be shown to whom the gun belonged.

INTERESTING TO CHEWERS OF GUM.—The chewing of white gum is a very common practice among juveniles, and many persons, too, of an older growth. It is not uncommon in a walk of two or three blocks, to meet a half dozen people whose masticators are doing duty on gum; chewing it is getting to be the rage. We suppose they are not aware that it is made of gum Dragacanth, resin and fat The last ingredient, for economy's—alas, not decency's—sake, is extracted from dead dogs, &c Chewers of gum, will, no doubt, be delighted with this information

PASSENGERS FOR PORTLAND.—The steamship Sierra Nevada, Wm. Metzger, Commander, sailed from San Francisco for this port on Monday, the 7th, with the following list of passengers: Mrs A M Kibler and children, Mrs Knapp and daughter, G Abernethy, G W Burns, A Packard, M Hyman, Col Eddy, W D Chandler, Mrs Catlino and daughter, H C Conlson and wife, Mrs Cook, H M Hutchinson and wife, Capt Rosseau U S A A Dinkelspiel, W S Rowland and family, P Adams, and 33 steerage passengers.

COUNTY COURT—MARQUAM, JUDGE.—Tuesday, October 8th.

In the matter of the estate of A. Hollbrook; Wm. Strong, administrator, filed semi-annual report

In the matter of the guardianship of Rosa E Wood ward, J. C Van Reusselaer, guardian, filed semi annual account.

POOR FELLOW!—An exchange paper says "A lady from over the Wabash gave birth to five children at one to East Saginaw, Michigan, lately The mother is said to be doing well, but no mention is made of the father" If the father was a man of sense, he cut his throat immediately, and there was no occasion to mention him

SALE OF OPIUM.—Collector Hinman will sell to day, A B. Richardson, auctioneer, some lots of Scotch whisky, opium and cigars which were seized and forfeited to the United States under the U S Revenue laws. The sale will take place at 10 o'clock A M, at Mr Richardson's auction store

MILITARY HONORS.—John Rae of the Washington Guards, who died on Sunday, was buried yesterday, the company marching in uniform in the procession to the cemetery, where they paid their late fellow-soldier the usual military honors.

CHANGE OF NIGHT OF MEETING.—We are requested to announce that the regular meeting of Portland Lodge No 2, I. O. O. F., has been changed to Thursday evening at 8 o'clock Members of the Lodge and Order are requested to attend.

ARRESTED FOR LARCENY.—Two men, John Brown and John Smith, were arrested yesterday on the charge of stealing a plated and bowie knife from the California Hotel and will have a trial to-day at 10 o'clock A M. before Justice Anderson

SPIRITUAL TRANCE-LECTURE.—It is reported that Mrs Blowe, the trance-lecturer who is now on a tour of the Willamette valley, will be in Portland again toward the last of the week and will lecture at Ore Bino Hall, Sunday evening.

WILLAMETTE FREIGHTS.—The Alert brought down, yesterday, from Oregon City, 6 bales woolen goods, 65 bars iron, 696 qr sks flour, 301 bags feed, 40 sacks, 143 boxes apples and a lot grape vines.

TREASURY RECEIPTS.—The receipts of treasure by Wells, Fargo & Co., from the upper Columbia, yesterday, amounted to $15,000

PORTLANDERS GOING TO THE STATE FAIR should buy a suit of suitable clothes of Barman Bros at corner of Morrison and Front streets; or if they forget to do so, they should go to Barman Bros' store at Salem and purchase a suit Barman Bros, don't care which of their stores you go to for clothing

CLOSING OUT.—Messrs Wm Currier & Co desiring to close out their business in this city, are offering an extra good stock of goods at cost They custom made clothing will be found upon examination to be of superior quality and priced low enough to suit the most exacting purchaser Give them a call, in Carter's building, on corner Front and Alder streets

IGNORANCE AND RASHNESS IN ancient times often caused men to challenge each other, but in these days, where people are more enlightened and jealousy is not such a vice as in centuries past a challenge is not considered gentlemanly and therefore is not accepted The public will be amply rewarded by calling at the store of Kohn & Pichel, No 91 Front street where without the least shadow of doubt, the best clothing is to be found, and price no object

The Milwaukee Sentinel tells a strange story about a man boast lately discovered in the vicinity of Oak Creek, Wisconsin For some months the farmers in the neighborhood had been annoyed by the disappearance of their fowls Doors were opened and roosts were robbed in the most summary and mysterious manner, and sometimes even lambs disappeared That these were not stolen by human hands was thought to be evident from the marks around of the fowls being eaten on the spot. One farmer determined to solve the the mystery, and so, rifle in hand he watched his premises. At about eleven o clock he discovered an animal of some kind approach the hen roost with stealthy step sometimes going on all fours and sometimes erect He fired and a piercing shriek, like that of a human being, showed that the creature had been hit It nevertheless made off for the woods, where it was seen the subsequent day, having the face and hands of a human being and the hairy body of a beast But though wounded, it made its escape, and though subsequently seen again had not been captured at last accounts.

Thomas D'Arcy McGee is thus sketched — "Judge of my astonishment to see a gutty fellow, swollen of cheeks, with flat feet, groggy nose and chops, a vitreous eye and bar room air, walk up the hotel steps and swallow a toddy in the coffee-room, with all the relish of a Tammany sachem."

The Mines

Our reports from the mineral regions east of us in this county for the past week or two do not differ from those heretofore published in this paper Tests have been applied to rock taken from several well known ledges, which demonstrate the fact that gold and silver are found in large amounts paying quantities What is to be the outcome of this exploration and discovery we at present cannot determine certain it is that Boheamia and the region around it will not be if it does not all doubts are removed as to the existence and richness of these mines These mines have been discovered for a long time, some two or three years—long enough to have that problem solved but owing to the indifference of our people generally, the excitement produced at the time the discovery came up, like Jonah's gourd, in the night, to wither and droop during the day We well remember, that considerable interest was taken, in words only, in Lane county a year or two since, over the discovery of these mines, and we then thought that a speedy and thorough test of their richness would be made, but in that hope we were disappointed Nothing was done then by men who were able to develop these mines And the excitement is again rife, though not with that intenseness of feeling as at its first outbreak, two years ago. What is to be done? These mines are known as the Bohemia mines, laying in a district laid out by a few miners in 1865, the district is six miles square and takes the city spring at what is called Bohemia City for its centre Every ledge taken is within the limits of this district. The mines are about sixty to seventy miles east of Roseburg, and were discovered years since though they were not brought into notice until 1865 or 1866 The causes for the present excitement are the same that created the first All tests now made are confined to ledges long since discovered by parties who extended the lines of the district over and beyond them These old miners are determined that Bohemia shall be thoroughly tried, and we admire their determination These miners are entitled to a good deal of credit, for laying out the district, paving the way for the future wakes of men of science, and for opening up a field for capital and enterprise During the past season claims have been taken up on some of these ledges of which we have heretofore spoken. Now it behooves us to inquire what are the inhabitants of Douglas county going to do towards opening these mines—what can they do? We answer, make a trail—make a road. We are told that a trail of twenty miles from the settlements on the Umpqua can be made to reach those mines Open the road, remove the brush, and trade and commerce will do the balance. We have our harbors at Umpqua, Coos, and Coquille. San Francisco is five hundred miles nearer those mines by the Umpqua route than via Portland The trail will cost but little, and another season will demonstrate the practicability of making a road These mines are scarcely prospected yet—those mountains will be covered with swarthy and plucky miners for years to come —Roseburg Ensign.

☞ We have but little confidence in the trumpet tongued statements of the proprietors of advertised medicines generally, but we are forced to concur in the opinion, uniformly expressed by all who have used PERRY DAVIS' PAIN KILLER, that it is a very valuable article and one that it would be well for every household to have at hand, in case of bruises, scalds, burns, diarrhœa, dysentery, cholera, fever and ague and the host of diseases external and internal, which it is adapted to cure or alleviate No article of medicine ever attained to such universal popularity and extensive diffusion. It has penetrated to every part, even the most remote, of the known world, bearing with it its healing influences more potent than those of the sphinx of "Araby the blest" We are informed by our principal druggists, that they sell more of this article for exportation than any or all others, and that the demand is constantly increasing —Salem Observer

THIS GATE WILL BE ON EXHIBITION AT THE

The advantages of this gate may be summed up in this brief statement
1st—In hung on a perfect balance and resting on a caster near the inner, and between two posts as may be seen in the diagram there is no tendency to angle the posts from a perpendicular, it thus avoids the inconvenience so often experienced with the swing gate, that of dragging on the ground after a frost
2d—It opens vertically and out of the way of the snow, mud and stones, requiring no additional space when open
3d—It admits of more secure and cheaper fastening while it is also a stronger gate than any other of the same amount of lumber
4th—It can be easily opened from a carriage, without halting the horse or getting out, and even the field gate, with out towers can be opened easily by any one on horse back and without leaving a team
5th—It is not only the most convenient gate, but can be made 50 per cent cheaper than any other kind now in use

Harvests on Historic Fields.

Three years ago the battle's breath
Swept fiery hot across the plain;
And steadily the reaper Death
With cruel carnage in his train,
Marched through the serried ranks that stood
Unwavering, and cut them down,
While field and farm, and hill and wood,
Grew dark beneath the battle's frown

The cannon thundered in their wrath,
The musket rang with volleys there,
The loud shell cut its trackless path,
And burst with fury in the air;
And thickly by the trodden way,
In dyke and field, by level rows
Of trampled corn Death a harvest lay—
Friend close by friend, and foe with foes.

To-day another harvest stands,
Where once Death trod the bleeding plain,
Ripe for the reaper's ready hands
That bind in sheaves the golden grain;
After the sheltered farm house sleeps,
Embowered in shade, while o'er the mound,
With pitying grass in the wild vine creeps,
Where rifles rang with deadly sound.

Up from her covert starts the quail,
As chanting on her hidden nest
The farmer lad, with soley hail,
Spies quick as thought that speckled breast,
And low and sweet the echoes call;
While from the blue sky overhead
In mellow radiance flooding all,
The golden light of peace is shed

The Conspiracy Ventilated.

[From the Idaho Statesman.]

As we correctly anticipated in a former issue of the Statesman, the cause of the suspension of Governor D. W. Ballard, and the appointment of Hon Isaac L. Gibbs, in his place, was through the vile and infamous statements and plottings of the place hunters of the democratic party. The prophetic conjectures we made, will be fully verified by the people of Idaho, after a careful perusal of the following letter written by John M. Murphy to Major General H. W. Halleck, written in obedience to the telegraphic command of Hon E. D. Holbrook, the democratic delegate in congress from Idaho:

Major [General Halleck, U. S. A., General Commanding Pacific Division!

General In pursuance of a telegraphic dispatch from the Hon. E. D. Holbrook, delegate in Congress from Idaho Territory, (and which is hereto annexed), I have the honor to make the following communication for your information, hoping that it may lead to some favorable result, and to the people of Idaho hopes that some change may take place in the Indian Department of the territory.

Governor Ballard, the present ex-officio superintendent for more than two years, during which time he has done nothing or attempted anything towards reconciling or conciliating the hostile bands of Indians which infest the country, nor has he as superintendent used his influence or exercised his authority in maintaining friendly relations between the powerful semi-civilized bands of Nez Perce Indians and the government.

I would respectfully state, that the Nez Perces Tribe of Indians are located not more than three days journey from the capital of the territory, and yet Gov. Ballard, during the two years never visited the reservation or agency but twice; the first visited lasted one evening, and then he had no interview with the Chief or Indians; his second visit was some six weeks ago, and after remaining one night, and leaving an address of some half dozen lines with a sub-agent, he returned to Oregon where his family resided and left the sub agent to manage matters as best he might The consequence was that the Indians treated the sub agent contemptuously, and he soon became ondued with threats and failure. It is notoriously known that the Superintendent by proper and prudent means restore confidence between this tribe and people and government. It is impossible to predict the consequence that may arise from the Superintendent's want of judgment, if not wanton neglect of his duties.

Here it is proper for me to state that I am and have been a resident of Idaho during the last six years, and the statements herein made are upon honor, and are facts well known to the public. As to myself, I refer you to Gen. Dent Major Marshall, at Fort Vancouver, Senator Nesmith, of Oregon, Hon. John B. Weller and Hon. E. J. Henley, of California.

Submitting, with great respect, this statement for your consideration, I have the honor to remain very respectfully your obedient servant.

Signed] JOHN M. MURPHY.

Official: Bobt N. Scott, Brt. Lt. Col., A. A. A. General.

Is the above any act of villainy to which such a man will not resort to carry his point? Murphy makes the above statement on his honor, and in doing so he has enough to call upon the living, shining lights of the day, Wallace, Henley, and others, to endorse its honor and veracity!

The sequel of Murphy, Holbrook and others for the purpose of suspending Gov. Ballard, is explained by the letter of Murphy, written as per order of Holbrook, was intended and no doubt was the last now and startling dodge upon President Johnson, to effect the removal of Gov. Ballard from office.

Upon the receipt of Murphy's letter at the proper department in Washington, the following telegrams were immediately dispatched to General Halleck

Washington, D. C., Aug. 14th, 1867.—To Maj Gen Halleck: The Secretary of War ad interim desires you to report whether, through the neglect or the delicacy of Gov. Ballard, as Supt. of Indian Affairs, the peace and safety of the inhabitants of Idaho are endangered.

ED. SCHRIVER, Inspector General.

San Francisco, Aug. 14th, 1867.—E. Shriver, Inspector General, Washington, D. C.: I have no reason to think that Gov. Ballard is neglectful or unfaithful, or that the peace and safety of the inhabitants are endangered.

H. W. HALLECK, Major General.

And the same day Gen. Halleck telegraphs to Gen. Steele

San Francisco, Aug 14th, 1867.—Gen. Steele, Portland: Can you telegraph any Indian difficulties in Idaho, and also any charges of neglect of Governor Ballard as Superintendent of Indian Affairs.

H. W. HALLECK, Major General.

San Francisco, Aug 29th, 1867.—E. Shriver, Inspector General, Washington, D. C.: General Steele reports that Gov. Ballard has managed well with the Indians, and that they are satisfied with him. The charges against him come from those who seek his place. No danger of any new Indian troubles in Idaho. Will report more fully by mail. H. W. HALLECK, Major General.

After a searching investigation of the condition of things, and a thorough examination into the official conduct of Gov. Ballard in regard to those matters intimated in the dispatches above, that distinguished General reported at length to Gen. Halleck, fully exonerating Gov. Ballard from every charge made by the safe opening leader of the democracy in Idaho. Upon the receipt of General Steele's report by mail—which we have in hand but is too long for publication—Gen. Halleck addresses the following answer in full to Washington. Further comments at this time are unnecessary.

Headquarters, Military Div. of Pacific, San Francisco, Cal., Aug. 20, 1867.

Brvt. Maj. Gen. E. D. Townsend, Asst. Adj. Gen. of the Army, Washington, D. C.—General: In further answer to a telegram received by me from Brvt. Maj. Gen. Schriver asking information in regard to the manner in which Gov. Ballard of Idaho, had performed his duties as Indian Agent, and whether through his neglect Indian difficulties were likely to occur there, I respectfully forward the enclosed copy of a letter just received from Gen. Steele, commanding the Department of the Columbia. Gen. Steele reports that the Governor has managed matters very well with the Indians, and that they are very well satisfied with him. The General further says that he does not apprehend trouble with any of the Indians under Gov. Ballard, and that the reports against him are made by those who desire to have some one else appointed in his place. From all the information I can obtain on the subject I fully concur in Gen. Steele's views. I have always found Gov. Ballard attentive to his duties as superintendent of Indian Affairs, and ready at all times to co-operate with the military officers in their efforts to maintain peace with the Indians in his District. In this connection I beg leave also to submit a copy of a letter received by me from John M. Murphy. I am told that the writer was a candidate for Gov. Ballard's place, and that his nomination was rejected by the Senate. If so, due allowance should be made in receiving his statements. At any rate, what he says about the Nez Perces differs entirely from the report of Gen. Steele.

Very respectfully,
(Signed) H. W. HALLECK.
Major General Commanding.

Railway Disasters.—There is a cold-blooded style about the London Spectator's expectations—thus: "The season for railway accidents has again commenced, and will probably last as usual till the end of the Autumn. Our daily cotemporaries this week have had their columns filled with them. The cure, however, is in our hands. Juries must give higher damages in all cases of injuries. Companies will then soon find that it is cheaper in the long run to keep up a proper staff of servants and good rolling stock and permanent way than to pay for compensation."

A Mountain Storm.

The following beautiful scenic description is from the pen of Col. McClure, written to the New York Tribune from Denver. The copy containing it has just come to hand in one of the back mails. It gives expression to those emotions common to all on the first view of the sublimities of the Rocky Mountains, and is not inferior to D'Israeli's description of a storm, held as a model descriptive composition

Go where you will in this section, the prospect is most charming, but all is dwarfed by the indescribable grandeur of the mountains. We have read and written volumes about the grandeur of the Alps, but the world has only one such view as is presented from the rolling prairie east of Denver. In bewildering sublimity none but itself is its parallel. There may be isolated views of the Alps as beautiful as any 20 miles of the Rocky Mountain range, and the joy land of Russian Amerika has its St. Elias, that towers higher toward the heavens than the highest of these, but here is presented in one grand view, nearly 200 miles of the Rocky Mountains, from beyond Pike's Peak far off to the south, thence by the Spanish Peaks to Long's Peak, and still on toward the north, until the range is lost in the dimness of distance. Black threatening clouds hung about them when first I saw them, and added to the peerless beauty of the scene. Around Long's Peak the storm-king seemed to be spell-bound or held an easy captive, for he had no deliverance until his heavy clouds had been discharged and broken, and his thunderbolts drawn in harmless violence. Far behind the struggling tempest the setting sun was casting his o oning rays through the tossing clouds, and fringing the very lightning with his matchless tints. On either side of the storm he was reaching out his light, flinging the silver lining around the raging elements, breaking in refulgent splendor on the distant peaks, and flashing in almost dazzling brilliancy upon their eternal snows. To the north the sweeping snows, falling and flitting in graceful waves, seemed to defy the lightning's erratic flash, while on the south the bow of promise illumined the heavens. It was the very sublimity of moral and material grandeur—a panorama that God alone could have fashioned. The great Snowy Range is the first to meet the eye, and the observer insensibly wonders along its vast, rigid, and broken sweep, until it is lost in the deep blue vaulted dome on either side. It has no two points alike, as if the Great Architect meant to confuse the very conceptions of men in this colossal masterpiece of His creation. Yonder is a cluster of peaks as if made up of huge inverted icicles, and beside them it would seem that gigantic snow-drifts, with their unique and countless forms, had fallen in. Here is a hillock of spotless white, whose garments change not with the revolving seasons, regular, graceful, sounding with apparent mathematical precision until it finishes with its tapered cap of snow. There are deep ravines, vast gorges, and rude, craggy peaks, as if the earthquake had taken the Western world in its frenzied arms, and tossed its mightiest rocks in wild disorder across the plains. Thus north and south, as far as the eye can see, and for two hundred miles toward the setting sun, these vast, snow clad monuments of omnipotent power present their varied beauties and surpassing grandeur, and I turn, from them only when the last ray of the receding sun has parted with their topmost crowns, and the mellow moon-light takes up the grateful task of displaying, through night's weary shadows, this mute but most impressive tribute an all-wise God has reared to Himself.

Letter from a Woman who Tried to Drown Herself.

A woman in Louisville tried to drown herself the other day in the river, but was prevented. She left the following letter on the river bank before plunging into the water:

Well, I believe I am ready to again set myself adrift on the world, or else to launch myself into eternity. I scarcely know which. The world is cold and unfeeling. I think I have seen enough of life. Yet there is a great deal I should want to live for. I feel that there are a few left who would not hear with joy the intelligence of my death. My children and my mother! And oh, ye innocent babes! Why should you care for her whom you call mother. She has proved herself unworthy of that name. You have looked to others from infancy up for the care that should have been performed by me. And oh, mother, you should rejoice to hear that your weak, sinful child is dead, for I can never be anything but a trouble to you. My life has ever been one of change. I have been unhappy and miserable from childhood. I have tried hard to perform my duty, but oh, the more I endeavored to do the right the more opposition I have. I am slighted on every side. Those for whom I am drudging my life away scorn me. Oh, if some one would lend me a helping hand life would then be something to me. S me few have extended their friendship to me, but I know they feel that they are condescending to do so, and I cannot appreciate their kindness, for were I to meet them on the street they would turn from me or pass me by unnoticed. Then, oh then, what is life to me. I work hard all day—take a few hours rest at night, without receiving any compensation, except the mutterings of those I've tried so hard to please. And my husband—I will not reproach him, but I cannot write. I will go wherever the spirit leads me. The river would welcome me. I feel that I could rest peacefully—rest beneath its bright waves. I will now go. If I need my clothes I will send for them; if I do not, they can be sent to my children, for they need them.

CARRIE E. GILL.

Let us tell the President a homely story: Years ago, in Westchester county, there lived a noted bull. He was a conservative animal. He believed in the traditions of his fathers, and had risen from an humble station to be a bull of strength and temper, fit for the proudest arena of Spain. His life was fixed. He detested radicalism. He swung round his circle from day to day, like a wise and resolute bull, calmly contemplating the wagon and the ox-cart, the lumbering stage and old family carriage. By and by a railroad was laid, and one morning a locomotive rushed screeching along. The bull was alarmed. He had never heard of such a thing. It was unconstitutional. It was contrary to the searchings of the fathers. The Washington of bulls had never mentioned it, and the Jefferson of bulls, he felt certain, would have condemned it had he lived. There never was a bull so agitated, so vexed, so maddened, so alarmed. He did not care about himself. He would willing pour himself out as a libation for the good of his race, but this ridiculous innovation he could not endure. So he bellowed and kicked, and pranced, but all was unavailing as so many vetoes. One day he escaped from his pen. He heard the whistle. Now was his opportunity. Now would he put his foot down and stop the calamity. The train came thundering along, and, placing himself in the middle of the track, he rushed upon it.

Cost of the Monitor Fleet.—The remarkable statements of Mr. Norman Wiard that the cost of our monitor fleet "exceeded two hundred millions of dollars," has brought out in the New York Times a writer who appears to know more about the subject than Mr. Wiard. His statement possesses an interest to the general reader independent of the correction they furnish to Mr. Wiard's charges. From them it appears th first monitor cost $275,000. The contract price for the ten of the Passaic class was $570,000 each; three were nine of these, which makes the cost of this fleet $5,130,000. The four monitors of Monadnock and Miantonomoh class averaged $1,500,000 each, which makes the cost of this class $6,000,000. The cost of the twenty "light drafts" was on an average, $500,000 each, which makes the cost of this fleet $10,000,000. The total cost of the forty-six iron clads was, therefore, $20,015,000 The cost of the iron clads used on the Atlantic coast during the war did not exceed $13,000,000. The above figures include the cost complete, ready for the guns, which cost, on an average, $6,000 each, and the whole of the above expenditure, with the exception of the original monitor, was made with a greatly depreciated currency, with the premium varying in gold from 50 to 150

A Novel Editorial Excursion.—A number of Western newspaper men propose to make an excursion in October from Illinois to the Rocky Mountains. This is no common festival. There will be one hundred and fifty persons in the party, each man will be armed with an Enfield rifle, and a mountain howitzer will be mounted upon a platform car, to be ready in case the rifles fail to repel the Indian attacks expected along the route; a printing press is to be taken along and a twenty-column daily newspaper will be published; the party will subsist upon game killed on the route. The company will leave Chicago on the 7th of October and go through to the present terminus of the Union Pacific Railroad—the Platte route—and those who do not shoot their neighbors, as Winkle did in the famous Pickwickian gunning excursion, or who do not get shot by roaming savages, will return in two weeks.

The horses of some of the New England watering places are severely scared by the aspect of the lady bathers in their bathing dresses. Some of the costumes and a few of the wearers are fearfully and wonderfully made. As the Boston Post says, "Even the brute creation can't endure the spectacle."

Brides for the Far West

Let the unwedded adventurers who have pitched their tents in Washington Territory rejoice A thousand young ladies, "chiefly between the ages of 16 and 20," will be en route from New York to that comparative ladyless land long before the Ledger of to day has journeyed thither. A steamer is to bear the precious cargo to its destination by way of the Straits of Magellan and all along shore Plenty of employment is promised at remunerative wages to the fair emigrants, and we earnestly hope that the rose colored picture of their future, drawn by the parties who have organized the scheme will be realized. That the enterprising voyagers will be able to dictate their own terms to the Washingtonians there can be no doubt. There are not women enough in the territory to keep the collars and wristbands of the forlorn male creatures in a buttonable condition. In all probability every young lady of the crowd will have half a dozen admirers at her feet. "Here's my heart and here's my hand," will be the cry of the wifeless pioneer, and it will be well if the competition does not lead to deadly feuds between enamored rivals.

Propitious gales to the Pacific-bound steamer! Good fortune to her pretty passengers! Should their expectations be realized, more shiploads will follow. The sex is not pitiless. The damsels of the "Atlantic slope" will not permit the western frontiersmen to degenerate into savages for lack of woman's refining, elevating and confronting ministrations.

San Case of Drowning—Wonderful Fidelity of a Dog.—About one o'clock yesterday a sad case of drowning occurred in the Monongahela, at the upper Birmingham bridge. A boy, said to be aged about thirteen years, but whose name is yet unknown, was coming over to Pittsburg, and when about half-way, climbed up on the railing that guards the side of the bridge. He walked along it some distance steadily enough, but suddenly lost his balance and toppled over into the river—a distance of at least sixty feet. He had been accompanied by a small terrier, which, on perceiving the accident that had befallen its master, instantly jumped after him, and no sooner had the unfortunate boy arisen to the surface of the water than it seized him by the hair and made the most desperate efforts to bring him to shore. For a time it appeared that the faithful animal would succeed in saving him, but, after having struggled vigorously for a minute or two to effect that object, it was at length compelled to relinquish its hold of the lad, who instantly sank to the bottom. The dog then swam to shore, where a few bystanders took him in charge and had him carried to the Mayor's office. The body of the boy was not found, nor was it discovered who he was.—Pittsburg Dispatch.

The Vermont Commissioner to the French Exposition, during his sojourn in England, very kindly investigated the probable chances of any American families getting those rich English estates that we occasionally hear about, and his report is the reverse of encouraging. He says with reference to the claim of the Wilsons, that, from inquiries made in the right quarters, he is satisfied there is not the least chance for any Wilson in America to get a dollar or an acre of land from the property of the Robert Wilson, Earl of Warwick, whose descendants they seem to be. Nor does he think the Jennings or the Browns likely to prove a whit more lucky than the Wilsons. Indeed, he gives it as his belief that "every one who has paid a dollar for 'scrip,' or for the investigation of these 'claims,' had better charge it immediately to 'profit and loss,' and make no more investments in these worthless schemes."

Clam Bake in Maine.—A clam bake which came off the other day near Portland, Me., included 30 bushels of clams, 215 lobsters, 100 dozen eggs, 3 bushels of potatoes, 9 bushels Providence river oysters. The side dishes were 60 gallons fish chowder, 10 pots baked beans, 51 boiled hams, 20 beef tongues, 900 baker's rolls, 400 pounds pilot bread, 20 loaves brown bread, 15 gallons pickles, 6 gallons olives. Drinks were 60 gallons coffee, 10 gallons tea, 6 gallons milk, 3 hogsheads water, 1½ tons of ice. No wonder that there was a storm on the coast just afterward.

Two cows, forty feet apart, in an open field, were struck by lightning. One bore visible marks of the lightning, the other none. And, curious to state, where the former had stood there were four holes in the ground, corresponding to the position of each of the animal's feet where it had stood. These holes were about as large as a man's arm; their depth we did not learn.

BRONCHITIS OR CHRONIC SORE THROAT.—It is attended with irritation of the bronchial tubes, which convey the air we breathe into the lungs. This irritation produces sore throat, hoarseness, coughing, and sometimes spitting of matter streaked with blood. If it is neglected it will extend down to the lungs, and settle into confirmed consumption ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM will be found a most valuable remedy for curing this disease, and prevent its running into Consumption —Sold by dealers in family medicines generally.

We have but little confidence in the trumpet tongued statements of the proprietors of advertised medicines generally, but we are forced to concur in the opinion, uniformly expressed by all who have used Perry Davis' Pain Killer, that it is a very valuable article, and one that it would be well for every household to have at hand, in case of bruises, scalds, burns, diarrhœa, dysentery, cholera, fever and ague, and the host of diseases, external and internal, which it is adapted to cure or alleviate. No article of medicine ever attained to such unbounded popularity and extensive diffusion. It has penetrated to every part, even the most remote, of the known world, bearing with it its healing influences more potent than those of the spices of "Araby the blest." We are informed by our principal druggists, that they sell more of this article for exportation than any or all others, and that the demand is constantly increasing.—Salem Observer
